The world of high-performance motorsports is based entirely on STEM: Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics.

INDYCAR, along with its partners Project Lead The Way and Jostens, are very excited to introduce INDYCAR Future of Fast, a unique STEM-focused learning opportunity. In select North American race markets, we'll invite local students to the track to learn about everything from car and engine design to tire compounds and fuel formulas.

Hands-on activities and getting up close & personal with a race car will give students real-world examples of how science and math classes can lead to a fast-paced career in the world of motorsports.

WHAT TO WATCH FOR THIS WEEKEND:

EIGHTH WINNER IN TEN RACES?: The 2013 IZOD IndyCar Series season has seen seven winners in the first nine races. The seven different winners who won from Barber to Texas included three first-time winners – James Hinchcliffe, Takuma Sato and Simon Pagenaud (right). It was the longest stretch of different winners since 2010 when seven different drivers won from St. Petersburg to Iowa. Who will come away with the gas pump trophy at Iowa?

HEAT RACES TO SET FIELD: The field for the Iowa Corn Indy 250 will be set through three 50-lap heat races held on June 22 at Iowa Speedway. Heat Race fields will be determined by single car, single lap qualifying on the .875-mile oval. The format will reward 12 starters with points – from nine points for the pole winner and descending by one point each position to one point for 11th and 12th.

MARCO SEEKS BREAKTHROUGH WIN: Marco Andretti may hail from Pennsylvania, but he is at home at Iowa Speedway. Andretti is aiming for his first win of the season but has four podium finishes in six Iowa Speedway starts. Andretti last won an IZOD IndyCar Series race at Iowa in 2011. Can he earn another win at the track this season?
