Firestone | FAST FACT

Pocono Raceway's three completely different turns are a tricky—but fun—challenge for drivers and tire engineers alike. Turn 1 has 14-degree banking and was modeled after the former Trenton Speedway in New Jersey. Turn 2 has 9-degree banking with characteristics of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, and Turn 3 has 6-degree banking with similarities to The Milwaukee Mile. To handle this very unique layout, the right and left-side Firestone Firehawk race tires designed for Pocono this year are meant to reduce understeer experienced by drivers in 2018.
